By 2020, almost one in two of us will get cancer. Right now or sometime soon, you are going to have to deal with cancer in the workplace. Macmillan's experience with people affected by cancer makes us ideally placed to help manage the impact of cancer at work. Our expertise is in workplace training, guidance and resources.

Join Macmillan at Work free today to receive

- The essential work and cancer toolkit – if anyone in your organisation is affected by cancer, this handy toolkit provides guidance and practical tips for you and your employees
- access to free e-learning modules for line managers, occupational health professionals and union reps
- regular updates and information about work and cancer and other long term health conditions by e-newsletter.

And what's more, by joining you'll be eligible to book one of our specialist work and cancer training and consultancy sessions.

Expert training and consultancy from Macmillan

Managing cancer in your workplace – in-house workshop

An in-house session for groups of up to 20 line managers and/or HR professionals in your company or organisation.

Meeting the challenge of cancer within the workplace – open workshop

An open workshop for HR/well-being/occupational health managers or line managers from individual organisations. Includes lunch & networking.

Bespoke consultancy for your organisation

For senior HR, occupational health or management either on a one-to-one basis or as a small team.

If your company would like us to develop and deliver a bespoke session i.e. a series of shorter sessions, or with specialist content, we will devise a quote specifically against your requirements.

We can also offer a free one hour taster session on work and cancer at your workplace delivered by one of our volunteers – contact us to find out more.
